The new Gwinnett County Department of Motor Vehicle Safety—Customer Service Center on Hurricane Shoals Road, in Lawrenceville, Georgia, represents a new age in the development of State facilities. Gwinnett County developed the building from a prototype created by Georgia Department of Motor Vehicle Services, and now leases the facility back to the State under a long-term lease agreement. This building will serve as the basis for a range of prototype designs for the development of future Georgia DMVS Customer Service Centers to meet the varying needs of Counties in all of Georgia. A second facility is currently under construction in Locust Grove, Henry County, with a number of other projects in development. ■
